Effective signage is an important feature in parks and opens spaces for clear communication and information sharing. APR Composites offer a wide range of sturdy and long-lasting signage solutions specially designed to withstand harsh outdoor environments whilst maintaining strong visual impact over time. Manufactured in Australia utilising recycled and reclaimed materials, APR Composites signage products make the perfect sustainable timber alternative.

APR Composites range of signs and markers will not rot, rust, splinter or leach chemicals into the environment. They are safe to handle, termite and graffiti resistant and require very little maintenance, if any at all.

If your project requires a specific style or function, APR Composites also offer custom in-house design services.
